Commencement Speaker

Henry Winkler

Happy Days is history and the black leather jacket worn by "The Fonz" has hung in the Smithsonian since February 13, 1980, confirming the status of the long-running television series' lovable central character, portrayed by Henry, as an American pop-cultural icon. The character's appeal made Winkler an international star, a status he still maintains. But, while "The Fonz" continues to live in the past on Nick At Nite, Henry Winkler lives very much in the present, acting in, producing and directing television programming and feature films.

Henry Winkler, most recently, starred on Broadway in Neil Simon's The Dinner Party. It marked Winkler's return to the Broadway state after an absence of 30 years. He received an Emmy nomination for outstanding actor for his appearance on ABC's The Practice and also starred in Down To You with Freddie Prinze, Jr. for Miramax. He also did a cameo in Little Nicky for his friend Adam Sandler.

Winkler co-starred opposite Sandler in Disney's The Waterboy, which grossed over $70 million in the first two weeks and earned him a Blockbuster Award nomination as Favorite Supporting actor. Previous to that, he had made his return to the big screen in Wes Craven's Scream followed by three independent films: Punks, Dill Scallion and Ground Control with Kiefer Sutherland and Kelly McGillis.

Winkler continues to serve as Executive Producer for Dead Man's Gun (TNN) and Sightings (Sci-Fi Channel) and, last fall, added the Disney series So Weird to his production slate. The series was named one of the Top 10 New Children's Programs by TV Guide.

In 1979, Henry formed his first production company, Fair Dinkum Productions. Its first venture was Who Are the DeBolts and Where Did They Get 19 Kids?, a television documentary about Dorothy and Robert DeBolt's remarkable children, 13 of them adopted, and most of them physically and/or emotionally challenged. Henry served as on-camera host and executive producer of the ABC presentation, which went on to win the prestigious Humanitas Prize.

Consistent with his long-standing concern for quality children's programming on television, Henry formed JZM Productions (1983) to create worthwhile projects geared for a young audience. The JZM tag was derived from the initial of the first names of his three children: Jed, Zoe and Max. JZM produced the 1983 ABC After School Special, Run, Don't Walk; and the 1984 CBS Schoolbreak Special, All the Kids Do It, the latter of which was directed by Henry. All the Kids Do It, which dealt with teenage drunk driving, won the daytime Emmy for Best Children's Program that year.

Henry Winkler was born in New York City, the son of Ilse and Harry Winkler. He received his B.A. degree from Emerson College in Boston (which, in 1978, presented him with a Doctorate of Humane Letters), where he majored in drama and studied child psychology. He continued his education in advanced drama and was awarded a Master of Fine Arts degree from Yale School of Drama.

His network television credits include The Mary Tyler Moore Show, The Bob Newhart Show, The Paul Sand Show and Rhoda. Then, on his birthday, October 30, 1973, he was cast as "The Fonz" on ABC-TV's Happy Days.

Henry's portrayal of the Fonz for 10 seasons (1974-84) made him one of the most recognized actors in the world. He won two consecutive Golden Globe Awards for Best Actor in a Comedy Series (1976 and 1977), and three Emmy nominations in the same category. He was also honored with a "star" on the Hollywood Walk of Fame, located directly in front of the forecourt of Hollywood's Pantages Theatre.

In 1977-78, Henry starred in the feature films Heroes and The One and Only, and in two specials: Richard Rodgers and Henry Winkler Meets William Shakespeare. In December 1979, he starred in ABC-TV's An American Christmas Carol, an adaptation of the Dickens classic, and in 1983 he starred in his fifth feature film, Nightshift, directed by ex-Happy Days star Ron Howard. His performance earned him a Golden Globe nomination for Best Actor.

In 1991, Henry hosted the 90-minute Happy Days Reunion Special for ABC. In 1993, Henry co-starred with his good friend John Ritter in ABC's The Only Way Out, and then in 1994 in the Fox series Monty. That same year, Winkler launched Sightings, a one-hour series on the paranormal which was syndicated by Paramount. A Child is Missing, in which he starred, aired on CBS in 1995 and, most recently, he starred in National Lampoon's Dad's Week Off for Showtime and Detention for ABC, in which he co-starred with Rick Schroeder.

As Henry became increasingly visible, he found that he could use his position to help others. He says that had he not succeeded as an actor, he would have become a child psychologist because of his deep interest in working with children. The groups with which he is associated include: Honorary Chairman of United Friends of the Children (the support group for MacLaren Children's Center, a facility for abused children in Los Angeles); Founding Member of the Children's Action Network, an organization composed of entertainment industry leaders dedicated to raising the profile of children's issues through the media; co-host of the annual Cerebral Palsy Telethon; the first National Honorary Chairman of the Epilepsy Foundation of America; National Chairman of the annual Toys for Tots campaign; the National Committee for Arts for the Handicapped; the Special Olympics; the Los Angeles Music Center's Very Special Arts Festival for children who are physically challenged and numerous teenage alcohol and drug abuse programs.

While Henry's personal commitment to helping others is reward enough, his efforts have been recognized by a variety of prestigious organizations including B'nai B'rith ("Champion of Youth"), United Nations ("Peace Prize") and in 1988, Henry and his wife, Stacey (they were married May 5, 1978), were presented with Women in Film's Norma Zarky Humanitarian Award for their tireless efforts and devotion to the "improvement of the human condition." In May of 1995 they received the Cedars-Sinai Medical Center Support Group Service's Helping Hand Award in recognition for all they have done for the children of Los Angeles and on June 29, 1996 Henry received the Chevallier de l'Ordre des Artes et Lettres, the French Government's highest honor.

It should come as no surprise that Henry places great value on family – he has three children; Jed, Zoe Emily and Max.

Academic Regalia

Lending color to the pageantry of the Academic Convocation are the academic robes and hoods worn by the faculty. This regalia reaches back into the medieval ages when it served a functional as well as an ornamental role, separating the learned men from other groups and offering warmth and protection.

In America in the late nineteenth century, a conference was held by representatives of colleges and universities to bring some order and system to the custom of academic dress. Since then, there have been periodic conferences to revise or reconfirm existing practices.

Essentially, undergraduates wear the black robes with the white collars. Holders of the bachelor's degree wear hoods which are lined with the colors of the college conferring the degree and trimmed with the color representing the subject in which the degree was earned. The doctoral robe is adorned with velvet and is also worn with the hood suitably ornamented.

Holders of degrees from foreign universities or religious orders wear the entire academic costume as decreed by the conferring institution.

The following list reflects the colors which will be found on the hoods worn in the Academic Procession at this Convocation and the subject each represents.

Under skies of blue
We've made friends so true
From every corner of the world
Celebrating different cultures
Made us see our world anew.

From this caring place
We will squarely face
The challenge of our destiny
Like our Fighting Knights
We'll lift hearts and sights
And we'll go forth in victory

And if our blue skies should turn to gray days
Or we misplace a dream or two
We'll remember Alma Mater
And then Her spirit will see us through

So let's raise our voice
In a proud refrain
Remembering good times we all know
Hail all hail our Alma Mater
Lynn University...Here's to you!
